

TORC

The torc was a necklace or bracelet worn by ancient Celts as a status symbol. Torcs were usually made of precious metals such as iron, bronze or gold. The design of a torc was usually a twisted rope-like design with highly detailed ends sometimes resembling the heads of animals.

To make a torc use multiple pipe cleaners and twist them together to make the size to fit around a wrist or neck. Or, for a detailed torc use the following design printed on heavy paper. Color, cut and wear!
